xm satellite radio is the best thing to come down the road yet..i am an over the road truck owner-operator and i travel 48 states..this is a very valuable service to me with the news and the national weather channel..the latest inovation of the instant traffic and weather channels in the major metropolitan areas is just an invaluble service to me..i can get a current scope of traffic and weather BEFORE i reach the area..the info is accurate,precise and can be understood on xm..on am or fm radio the weather report comes out on the evening morning and midday news and quite frankly does the traveling person no good..and the traffic guys in the helicopters rattle everything so fast and furious not hardly a word can be understood.. the nab and the am/fm folks need to step up to the plate and be competitive and improve their services and quit attacking everything new that comes along and quit their whining...xm radio is a subscription service that we pay for every month and we should get what we want...i ask the FCC to ignore this attack once again and let xm radio continue their great services...thank you for your time and consideration..ed hopkins
